

ZEPPELIN IS SOARING OVER ATLANTIC

DIRECTION TO AIDE, MYERS' FINAL SIGNAL

Deputy County Surveyor Killed
By Truck As Rodney
Watches Tragedy.

Ray Z. Myers, 44, deputy Pickaway-co surveyor, who was instantly killed at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, when he was struck by a truck on the Scioto Trail, two miles north of Bloomfield, was engaged in road survey work when the tragedy occurred.

Mr. Myers was working on the west side of the road, two miles north of Bloomfield, probably 6 to 8 feet from the center of the road, according to Joseph Rooney, his rodmán. He was looking through his level instrument, north, surveying the road at this point, and had just signalled to Rooney that the grade was all right, when a loaded gravel truck coming south, hit him a terrific blow, throwing him 33 feet to an instant death.

VIEW UNOBSTRUCTED
There is nothing to obstruct the view at this point and it is not known why the driver did not see him as he was in full view. The truck, after the fatal crash, ran over his body, completely crushing him at the waist.

The truck was driven by Clifford Morton, 529 S. Park-st., Columbus, Ohio, and owned by Grant Trucking Co. of Columbus, which is hauling gravel for Ringwald and Son Construction Co.

The driver of the truck was grief stricken and was sent to his home in Columbus by his employer. He left his name and address for authorities if they wished to locate him. He may be questioned later concerning the accident.

Mr. Myers is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Hazel Sands, of Cincinnati, who was married Dec. 31, 1924, a sister, Mrs. J. A. Myers, of Minneapolis, and a step-father, J. McCrackin, of Johnstown, Ohio.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Mr. Myers was born at Hartford, Ohio, March 12, 1884, coming to Circleville about five years ago. He was an active member of the M. E. church, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, K. of P., and was a 32nd Degree Mason. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church at 10:30 A. M. Saturday with Rev. Franklin McElfresh officiating. The body will then be taken to Hartford, Ohio, where another service will be held at the Methodist church there at 2:30 p.m. Burial will be in Hartford cemetery, M. E. Rinehart in charge.

FUNERAL FOR FIRE VICTIM SATURDAY

Five-year-old Girl Succumbs
To Burns Received Thursday Morning.

Death visited the Home and Hospital shortly after noon Thursday, relieving a five-year-old girl of untold misery when Edith May Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook, 207 Town-st., succumbed to burns suffered when her clothing caught fire from a bonfire Thursday morning.

She was born in Circleville May 12, 1923. Her parents were from Ross-co. Mrs. Cook formerly being Miss Algae Dowler.

The child is survived by her parents, five brothers, Emmitt, William, Leonard, Ray and James, and a sister Katherine.

The funeral, which is in charge of M. S. Rinehart, will be held Saturday at the home at 2 p.m. Rev. Wilkins of the Church of the Brethren, will officiate. Interment will be in Forest cemetery.

BUY FEEDER CALVES

Sixteen carloads of good to choice, white face calves and yearlings will be loaded this month in Texas for Pickaway-co farmers, according to information received at the Pickaway-co farm bureau. The cattle are being secured through the National Producers Feeder pool.

ROADSTER STOLEN

Harry Garrett reported to police Friday that his Ford roadster was stolen Thursday night from in front of his home on E. High-st. The car was located on the Stoutsville pike near the Palm farm. The machine was stripped of tires and carburetor.

WEDS SECRETLY

Gloria Swanson's mother, who, it was recently revealed, was married last May to C. C. Woodruff, a Chicago Opera orchestra musician. He is her third husband.

CENTENNIAL IS BEING PLANNED

Dresbach U. B. Church Will Have Special Programs
On Sunday.

A centennial celebration will be held Sunday, October 14, at the Dresbach U. B. Church, and will be in charge of Dr. J. H. Harris. The Rev. L. W. Green is pastor of this church.

In the morning, Sunday school will begin at 9:30 o'clock, and worship service at 10:30. This service will include the following program: Hymn, congregation; scripture lesson, hymn, congregation; prayer, Rev. L. W. Green; sermon, Bishop A. R. Clippinger; hymn, congregation; benediction.

At noon a basket dinner will be enjoyed by all members and their friends, who will be very welcome at the celebration.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the program will begin with a song service, led by the Rev. D. S. Mills and conducted as follows: A former pastor will lead prayer; church music, Circleville U. B. church; introduction of former pastors; song, congregation; address, Dr. A. W. Drury, of Bonbrake Seminary; special music; address, Dr. N. E. Cornet, dean of Otterbein College; song, congregation; benediction.

This celebration has been looked forward to for some time by the members of this U. B. Church, and record attendance is expected both afternoon and evening. Those in charge have been very fortunate in the speakers obtained, and the program for the day will attract persons from far and near. It will be an excellent opportunity to see folks that have not been together for several years. Everybody is welcome to come and enjoy the morning and afternoon services and the basket lunch which will be served at noon.

TEEGARDIN ENJOYS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Polled Shorthorn Cattle Win
Prizes in Exposition Showings.

C. E. Teegardin and Sons of near Ashville have completed the most successful season yet conducted in the show rings of Polled Shorthorn cattle. All the prize winners were bred and reared by them.

The circuit was started at the Central States Exposition at Aurora, Ill. Here they won five championships and 14 firsts.

The next show was the Illinois State fair and then the Ohio State fair. At Columbus the herd was divided. One part went to the Michigan State fair where they won all championships and 14 firsts. The other part at the Indiana State fair won five championships and ten firsts. The last show was at the Greater Peoria Exposition. Here they won five championships and 10 firsts.

MAY CHICKENS WIN

At the Lancaster fair George H. May, Circleville, won six firsts and one second prize on his Golden Buff Rock chickens. The largest exhibit of poultry the fair has ever known was judged. There were 61 exhibitors.

REPUBLICANS PLAN CHANGE IN CAMPAIGN

Hoover May Remain In East
To Offset Smith's Drive
For Votes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Herbert Hoover and his managers are facing a delicate problem in campaign strategy involving the date of the Republican candidate's departure for California to cast his ballot.

The problem is whether it is more important for Hoover to leave early so he may visit "doubtful" states on his way west, thus leaving the eastern field open to Governor Alfred E. Smith in the last few days, or to remain here as late as possible for any last-minute developments and climatic western states.

The Republican candidate could leave here as late as Nov. 1 or 2 and get to California for the election, if he went direct. He would then be here almost through Smith's final week, which ends Nov. 3.

If Hoover stops on the way west, he would have to leave a few days earlier, missing the last week here. Insistent requests have come here for him to stop in as widely separated states as Minnesota, Missouri and Texas.

AL SPEAKS TONIGHT
ABOARD SMITH'S SPECIAL TRAIN NEARING KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 12.—Governor Alfred E. Smith brought his campaign for the presidency into doubtful Tennessee today across the trail of his Republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, who made a speech at Elizabethton last week.

The happy warrior, happier still with encouraging news from the Democrats of Virginia and North Carolina, planned three stops in this border state, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Nashville.

Smith is expected to make a speech tonight at Byman's Memorial hall, Nashville. Strong pressure has come from Tennessee officials for a speech which they think is necessary to hold the state in line for the Democratic national ticket.

The governor is understood to have dictated the speech late last night and set the mimeograph machines aboard his train to work. The speech will deal, it is said, with farm relief and Muscle Shoals.

RASKOB MAKES DENIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Issuing a formal statement sharply criticizing former Republican Senator Henry C. Hansbrough, head of the Smith independent league, for his speech in Minneapolis Wednesday linking Herbert Hoover with Latin-American oil concessions, John P. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic committee last night disclaimed any responsibility for Hansbrough's speech.

STANDS BY CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Former Senator Henry C. Hansbrough today had reiterated his charge that Herbert Hoover was connected with the Latin-American oil concessions and he said he regretted the criticism from John P. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

In a telegram to the United Press Hansbrough said: "I regret exceedingly Mr. Raskob's hasty attack on me. The statements and charges I made are true. The evidence sustains me. I regret especially comparing my charges against Mr. Hoover to the vicious personal attacks made on Governor Smith. Certainly it is no disgrace to have private interests in foreign lands. What I did was to call attention to the fact that such interests on such a large scale are undesirable in one aspiring to the presidency."

ILLNESS IS SERIOUS

Mrs. Leland Pontius, of E. Main-st., is seriously ill with senile peritonitis. Dr. Howard Jones, her physician, called Dr. Holman of Columbus for a consultation. Mrs. Fannie Stage, of Columbus, mother of Mrs. Pontius, was called to Circleville by the illness of her daughter.

WAR MINISTER DIES

MADRID, Oct. 12.—The Duke of Tetuan, Spanish minister of war, died at his home near Madrid today.

NEW THEATER HAS OPENING

Throngs Attend First Shows
in Cliftona—E. A. Brown Lauds Enterprise.

Approximately 1,500 persons attended the opening of the new Cliftona theater Thursday night to view the first picture to be presented in this modern show house.

The theater was beautifully lighted and an unusual feature is the lighting while the picture is being presented. The seats can easily be seen and patrons have no difficulty in finding their way down the aisles.

E. A. Brown, prosecuting attorney, gave a brief address on the merits of the theater and introduced the owner and manager, Harry Clifton and Henry Mader. He was the first to speak from the new stage. He also praised them for their great undertaking which brought to Pickaway-co. the most modern in-theater construction, and a show house all can be proud to attend.

The patrons were ushered to their respective seats by two boys, Robert Rooney and Sheldon Mader. In the ticket office was Miss Margaret Miller.

A number of telegrams from Hollywood congratulating Mr. Clifton, were read to the audience. They included telegrams from Billie Dove, Milton Sills, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Ronald Coleman, Ted Lewis, D. W. Griffith, and many others.

Everything went along in clock-work manner and the owner and manager are certainly to be congratulated.

The organ, however, was not used as the blower failed to arrive, but the public was treated with a real dance orchestra, the Princess Pat orchestra of Detroit.

BRIGADIER ALLEN SPEAKS AT ROTARY

Tells Local Club of Chaplain's
Work Among Soldiers
During War.

John A. Allen, brigadier of the Salvation Army, Columbus, addressed the Rotary club at its meeting Thursday noon. Mr. Allen, who had served as chaplain in the Salvation Army overseas, told of the work of a chaplain during the war. He gave much information of unusual interest to the Rotary members. Having spent most of his time in the advanced sectors where the fighting was the most severe, he found that religion played a great part in helping the morale of the soldiers.

Having made a complete survey of this section he found that those men who did not have the better morals were the ones found in the division where there were fewer chaplains to give encouragement during conflict and during time of suffering. He praised the work of the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations during the world war and stated that most of the criticisms about these organizations was without foundation.

The local club voted to hold their regular meeting in two weeks at Washington, C. H. Oct. 21, where an inter-city meeting will be held at 6 o'clock.

CRITICALLY ILL

Mrs. W. H. Grove, 84, of Hayesville, is critically ill at the home of her son, George S. Grove, in Asheville. She was visiting with her son and was stricken with a severe attack of gall stones.

Ruins of the Ohio State Penitentiary brick plant dormitory at Junction City, O., in which seventeen prisoners were burned to death and several others were seriously injured when the building was recently razed by fire. In that almost 300 prisoners were helped to safety by guards. Deputy Warden H. C. Blosser attributed the fatalities to the victims' attempts to gather up their belongings when the fire alarm was given.

ICY WAVE TO HEAT'S HEELS

Circleville Swelters As Snow
Storm Sweeps On Chicago
From West.

The mercury rose to 92 Thursday in Circleville, according to H. R. Clarke, local weather forecaster, and was expected to near that mark Friday. The Pickaway-co farmers are badly in need of rain as the hot weather has dried out the ground and made corn husk-beds. The wheat sown late has not yet sprouted in many places and a good rain would aid it greatly.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The first breath of winter was sweeping in to the midwest today from the slopes of Alaska.

Snow, hail and high winds already have enveloped the western plains and Rocky Mountain states. The weather bureau here predicted that by the time the football teams kick off for Saturday's games the temperatures in this region will have dropped to from 40 degrees to below freezing.

The mercury is due to skid rapidly in Chicago from a record high of 87.2 degrees for Oct. 11. At 1 a.m. today the temperature was 72 degrees but by dawn it had begun to fall slowly at first.

Apple growers in Utah reported heavy losses resulting from the sudden cold snap around Logan. Hundreds of orchards where the crop had not been harvested were blanketed under eight inches of snow.

Snow also fell in Montana, Wyoming and North Dakota.

Hail storms leveled corn fields and damaged small buildings in Nebraska.

SALT CREEK NATIVE DIES IN COLUMBUS

John Mowery, 65, Former Columbus Motorman, Succumbs Friday.

John Mowery, 65, died at his home at 132 Woodruff-ave., Columbus, Friday at 12:25 a. m. Mr. Mowery was born and reared in Salt Creek, Ind., and for many years was a motorman on Columbus street cars.

He was the son of Charles and Margaret Schwing Mowery.

Funeral services will be held at the home Saturday at 2:30 p. m. and the body will be brought to the Tilton M. E. church Sunday where further services will be held. Rev. Woodard will officiate.

He is survived by a son and daughter of Columbus. Burial will be in the Tilton cemetery in charge of H. F. Deffenbaugh.

FEARSHIP LOST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—The coast guard cutter Smith with 13 men aboard was believed lost today off Point Arena after being damaged in a terrific gale Thursday. Coast guard officers here expressed fear that the vessel had gone down.

CHAMBERLIN IN NEW STUNT

Flics From Leviathan at Cherbourg—To Le Bourget Field Near Paris.

LE BOURGET-FIELD, Oct. 12.—Clarence Chamberlin, who took off in his amphibian plane from the side of the Leviathan at Cherbourg at 7 a. m., arrived at Le Bourget field at 11:30 a. m. today.

He will refuel here and proceed to Berlin.

The trans-Atlantic aviator was forced to fly mostly through rain enroute from Cherbourg to Le Bourget.

He was forced to descend once on the Seine at Saracerville, just outside of Paris, and wait two hours for the weather to clear.

CHERBOURG, France, Oct. 12.—Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, started a flight from the side of the liner Leviathan today.

The Leviathan arrived at Cherbourg at 3 a. m. and Chamberlin's amphibian plane was lifted overboard to the water at 7 a. m. He took off for Le Bourget field, Paris.

He planned to refuel at Le Bourget and then continue on to Berlin. He was accompanied by his wife and four passengers. He said he would rejoin the Leviathan at Cherbourg Tuesday.

PLEADS GUILTY TO STILL OPERATION

A. C. Norman Makes Plea Before Judge Adkins—Sentence Is Withheld.

A. C. Norman, a tenant on the farm of Jimmie Duncan near Yellowburg where a huge distillery was found by the sheriff's department, pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon in probate court to a charge of having implements to manufacture liquor. The sentence was withheld until Wednesday, Oct. 17.

In the case of Arthur Knece the state asked for a continuance.

Norman at the time of the raid denied all knowledge of the still. Wesley Kerns, also connected with the still, appeared before Judge J. W. Adkins Wednesday, pleaded guilty and was fined $800 and costs. He settled and was released.

WIFE, SWEETHEART SLAYERS ARE DEAD

RAVENNA, O., Oct. 12.—Carl Eschinger, 62, a farmer, who confessed to the murder of his wife Minnie, 64, a week ago, was dead in Portage county hospital Friday from the effects of slow poison.

Coroner R. D. Warden said he believed death resulted from poison taken by Eschinger before his arrest last Friday.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Glenn Jenkins, 29-year-old "love slayer" who killed Marie Young, 21, his sweetheart, because he said she asked him to die after his second suicide attempt, Jenkins died of a fractured skull received when he dived headfirst from the second tier of cells of police headquarters to the floor 18 feet below.

EXPECT HEAVY VOTE IN OHIO

Tremendous Interest in Coming Election Shown on Second Registration Day

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12.—All previous registration and voting records in Ohio will be surpassed this year, results of the second registration day in the larger cities, indicated beyond all question. Election experts, analyzing the figures, predicted on the basis of the registration figures, the total presidential vote in Ohio in November will be in the neighborhood of 2,500,000.

Largest previous vote in the state was in 1920, first year women had the right of suffrage, when 2,021,658 ballots were cast for presidential candidates. Four years ago the total presidential vote was 2,016,237.

Reports from over the state indicate that thousands of persons who have not been voting in past years, have determined to cast their ballots in November, probably because of aroused interest in the presidential contest.

Officials pointed out that registration on the third and final day, may be smaller than heretofore and reduce estimated totals somewhat, but insisted that the final totals will establish new all-time records.

BOYS STEAL AUTO; WRECK CAR HERE

Two Columbus Youths Arrested After Machine Overturns Near City.

Two boys were taken to Columbus Thursday by the sheriff's department when an auto they had not asked to use overturned on its side on the Darbyville-pk. near the Crites farm.

The coupe was completely wrecked. The young adventurers gave their names as Wayne Davis, 11, and Vernon Pressnell, 9, of Columbus.

The car was seen by a passing motenist and recognizing it as a Franklin-co. tag notified the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Frank Davis arrested the boys and they confessed everything.

The Davis boy, who lives with his mother, Mrs. Verna Davis, at 442 E. Sterling-st., Columbus, O., had just been released from a detention home four weeks ago. This is his second offense. The Pressnell boy, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pressnell at 436 E. Sterling-st., Columbus, and he, too, was just released from a detention home last Monday. This is his fourth offense of stealing.

EXPECT GIANT CRAFT IN NEW YORK SUNDAY

Progress of Huge Dirigible Depends on Wind—Reports "All Well."

By United Press
The Graf Zeppelin, flying from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to the United States, apparently was over the south Atlantic today, making her way to this country to the south of a storm area that was moving as far down as the Azores. The Zeppelin reported "all well" today but did not divulge her position. She was believed, however, to be headed across the Atlantic by way of Madeira.

The Western Union station at Horta, Azores, reported at 8:45 a.m. that the Graf Zeppelin had passed over Madeira. The report was not confirmed from other sources.

The British steamer Gymer reported at 6 a.m. that she sighted the Graf Zeppelin degrees west and 35 north. It is a point about 30 miles of northwest coast of Africa, about 400 miles from Madeira.

Previous to the report from Gymer, the Graf Zeppelin last officially sighted at Lisbon, on the east coast of Europe. Even at a slow speed, she would have passed beyond Gibraltar by this time, and since she kept reporting all well, there appeared little doubt that she was over the Atlantic.

The Graf Zeppelin apparently avoided passing directly over Gibraltar, but cut across the strait on the tip of Africa to the south of it. At 12:30 a.m. she notified the Gibraltar wireless station that she was passing and that the wireless station at Lisbon announced.

Watchers at Gibraltar reported that the Zeppelin was not seen there, and previous to the report from Lisbon, it had been understood that no radio messages received.

MAY ARRIVE SUNDAY
The distance from Funchal to the United States is 3,133 miles. If the dirigible averages 60 miles an hour across the ocean, she should make the distance in 53 hours, putting her in New York Sunday afternoon or Sunday night.

Adverse winds might delay her until late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS IS ARRANGED

Circleville Benevolent Association In Charge of Local Distribution.

Miss Charlotte Phelps returned from Columbus Thursday where she attended the 1928 Christmas Seal conference.

Plans were made for the sale of 6,000,000 Christmas stickers this year. The sale locally will be directed by the Circleville Benevolent Association. Last year $477.41 worth of seals was sold here.

The entire amount raised by the seal sale is used to carry on the organized fight against tuberculosis. Since the first seal was sold in Ohio in 1919, the tuberculosis death rate in this state has gone down from 150.7 per hundred thousand to 72.09—a reduction of more than half in less than two decades.

CONVENTION ENDS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 12.—An aerial pageant by more than 200 army and civilian planes marked the end of the National American Legion convention here. Although most of the veterans who attended the convention were on their way to their homes, many remained over for the last night to join special tours of Mexican border and Mexico. Paul V. McNett of Cincinnati is the new national president.

EVERYTHING HAD FAILED; KONJOLA CAME TO RESCUE

Spent $200 in vain search for relief—made well again by Master Medicine.

MRS. DAISY SAMBORY

Wonderful are the successes of Konjola where everything has failed; where hope has been abandoned; where the future looks dark for those afflicted with stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles. Read the remarkable experience of Mrs. Daisy Sambory, 814 Olden street, Toledo, Ohio. "Vibrant with health regained," Mrs. Sambory said:

"Konjola came into my pain-stricken life when I feared my case was hopeless. My kidneys and liver were deeply affected, and grew worse despite many forms of treatment. At night I had to rise five or six times. My liver was sluggish. Severe dizzy spells came on so suddenly that I feared to leave my home. I had spent more than $200 seeking medical help, but all in vain. At this point in my distress I resolved to try Konjola. Today I am well, entirely freed from all my ailments. Pains have vanished, sleep is easy, complexion clear, kidneys and bowels in splendid condition. I am in better health, far better, than I have been for ten years. How I wish that all who endure the torments that I did, would profit by this wonderful experience, and give Konjola the chance to make them well again like it did me."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Myerantz Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

SMITH CUTS HOOVER LEAD

Literary Digest Poll This Week Shows Democratic Nominee Is Gaining.

Smith reduces Hoover's lead more than 7 per cent, as the first major returns are reported from the South and several larger cities in the fourth week's returns of The Literary Digest's 19,000,000-ballot Presidential Poll published today.

With the votes now received from 39 of the 48 States, Hoover has 1,201,869 votes of a grand total of 1,911,257 tabulated, while Smith polls 688,829. This gives Hoover approximately 63 per cent, and Smith about 36 per cent, of the total vote as compared to the previous week's tabulation when the percentages were nearly 68 for Hoover and 31 for Smith.

A new feature of this mammoth "postcard election" is the introduction of separate urban returns, included in the total, from Chicago, Philadelphia, and New York, where the entire electorate is being polled which shows Smith leading in these three cities with 185,000 votes to Hoover's 177,044.

Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, and South Carolina are the only States that have as yet given Smith a plurality. Though Hoover has a slight advantage in the present returns in Alabama, the vote is practically a stand-off.

Virginia and North Carolina give Hoover a definite lead but the returns from the South, The Literary Digest cautions, are less than half completed and should not be taken as indicative of the final returns.

NAVY DAY WILL BE OBSERVED OCT. 27

Celebration of American Sea Power Annual Event, Postmaster Says.

Saturday, Oct. 27, will be set aside as Navy Day, according to information received from the Circleville post office.

The importance of an American owned Merchant Marine and of adequate Naval protection to the security of foreign trade are not generally recognized as they should be, and for this reason the day has been set apart for their observance, Postmaster George Foreman says.

October 27, is the birthday of the late President Theodore Roosevelt who did so much for the building up of American seapower and influence. For this reason this date has been selected as an annual observance of Navy Day throughout the country, and to place before the American people the importance of unity of the Navy with every interest and activity of the national life.

The navy is important to every element in the community. As the protector of foreign commerce, it stands watch over nearly one-fifth of all agricultural products, the proportion exported annually.

Cost of English Roads

The main roads in and around London and other large English cities cost approximately $3,000 per mile annually to maintain.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 3

A great deal has been said and written about the importance of knowing the rules and conventions of Bridge. Such knowledge undoubtedly is of prime importance. A proper understanding between partners of the conventions of bidding and play makes better Bridge and more pleasant relations with one's partners. But every player should realize that there are exceptions to all rules. A recent book on Auction expresses the point very well:

"One aspiring to become an expert player must remember this important axiom—There is no ever nor never in Auction Bridge."

That is, no rule is too good to be broken when the proper occasion arises. The player who knows best when and how to dispense with a rule, knows best how to play the game. But one thing must never be overlooked. Have learned the application of the rule he is breaking, before he attempts to break it.

"When the author uses the word 'never,' please read 'hardly ever.' Do not hesitate to break any rule herein set forth if you see a good reason for doing so—but be sure your reason is better than the rule."

One of the conventions of bidding that usually should be followed is to bid the major suit, if you have one, in preference to a no trump, but the following hand shows a justifiable departure from this rule or convention:

Hearts—A, 9, 8, 7, 5
Clubs—A, 5
Diamonds—A, J, 4
Spades—A, J, 5

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt, should he bid one heart or one no trump?

In this case, the four aces make the no trump bid justifiable, especially as the heart bid contains only one honor. But don't let 100 aces influence you to bid an unsound no trump rather than a sound major suit, when the suit is such a strong one that game is a certainty. On the other hand, don't bid a weak major suit in preference to a sound no trump, especially when the hand contains 100 aces. All pass the no trump bid and A opens the four of clubs.

The play of this hand is instructive also, so should be carefully noted. The fact that A leads the four of clubs, the fourth best of his long suit, and that the dummy hand, showing that A has only four clubs, therefore Z should win the first club trick with the ace and set his heart suit. He can afford to lose one heart and three club tricks. He will still score game if the spade finesse is successful.

Played in this way, Y, Z will make one club, four heart, three-spade and one diamond tricks or three odd, game and rubber. Learn to count your tricks and plan the play of the hand before you play to the first trick. It will win you many a game and rubber.

There is another case where conventions should be discarded. That a "two-suiter" always should be played at a suit is one of the recognized conventions of the game; but sometimes there is a better bid, and the following hand is a good illustration:

Hearts—J, 6
Clubs—J, 9
Diamonds—Q, J, 10, 8, 5
Spades—K, 10, 6, 4

The Mad Minute

British rifle clubs have a system of rapid fire which has been popularly dubbed "the mad minute." Every competitor is allowed to fire as many shots as he can get off in a minute, the score being computed in the usual way.—The American Rifleman.

Truly Said

Books that you may carry to the fire and hold readily in your hand are the most useful, after all.—H. Johnson.

Hearts—A, K, 8, 5, 3
Clubs—A, K, Q, 7, 6, 4
Diamonds—2
Spades—7

No score, rubber game. Z deals and is obliged to choose between a club and a heart bid.

The general rule or convention is that with a choice between a major and minor suit, bid the major, but this rule holds true only when both suits are of equal length. If the minor suit happens to be the longer, it should be bid first and the major suit on the second round. Such bidding should indicate to partner that the minor suit is longer or stronger and not to support the major in preference, unless he has much better holding in the major suit than in the minor.

Z's proper opening bid, therefore, with the above hand is one club. A bids one spade and Y, with a double stopper in the spade suit, should bid one no trump. B passes.

Z should now bid two hearts to show his partner his other suit and to indicate a two-suit holding. A passes and Y is up against the rule that a "two-suiter" always should be played at a suit. His hand, however, is not strong in either of his partner's suits and is very strong in spades and diamonds. For that reason he should figure that he has a better chance for game in no trump than at clubs or hearts. Y therefore should bid two no trump.

At no trump Y will score three odd, game and rubber. At clubs, four odd is possible and at hearts, three odd. Thus it is apparent that Y's departure from the rule proves a winning venture. Stick by your conventions but also learn when to break them. When you do, however, always have a reason and a good one, for doing so.

Answer to Problem No. 3

Hearts—A, J, 6, 3
Clubs—10, 5
Diamonds—K, 10, 7, 2
Spades—J, 8, 4

Z

Hearts—K, 9, 7, 4
Clubs—7, 6, 2
Diamonds—A, Q, J
Spades—K, 10, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no trump and all passed. A opened the five of spades, Y played the four, B the nine and Z won the trick with the ten of spades. How should Z plan the play of the hand?

Solution: Z should take four rounds of diamonds, winning the third diamond trick in Y's hand with the king so that he can play the last diamond and thus force discards. The important suit to find out about is the heart suit, for if Z takes the wrong finesse, he not only will lose game but also may not even make his bid.

A and B now have two set-up suits, clubs and spades, so Z cannot permit either A or B to get the lead. On the ten of diamonds, B discards a spade and A a heart so Z decides that B must have the queen of hearts. If he also has the ten, Z cannot go game but, if A has the ten, then Z can go game as he can catch B's queen.

As a matter of fact, A held the ten and B the queen, so Z's fine play enabled him to make game on a hand that most players would lose because they would finesse the heart toward the ace jack rather than first coax discards and thus locate the queen. Be on the lookout for such opportunities.

Williamsport High School News

The total enrollment of the high school for this year is 66. There are 22 freshmen, 18 sophomores, 18 juniors and eight seniors.

The board of education has appropriated a sum of money for the purchase of supplies for the manual training and home economics classes.

The cataloging of the library is now in progress under the supervision of Mrs. Ware. We are now thinking of having the traveling library here this year.

Helyn Long has been very ill during the past two weeks.

A representative of the Schreck picture studio at Columbus was a recent visitor of the seniors. A letter has been received from the McCreary studio at Circleville concerning class pictures. Both places are under the consideration of the seniors.

Dorothy Wardell has invited the freshman class to attend a Halloween party to be given at her home Oct. 31.

The high school classes are busy this week with six week tests.

Miss Mary Hornbeck and Miss Mildred Warner, who are attending Office Training in Columbus, and are graduates of last year, visited the high school Friday afternoon and attended the football game at Clarksburg. They accompanied by Oppie Anderson spent the week-end with Miss Warner's sister, Elizabeth.

Electricity For Blackened Eyes

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. — Black eyes, the loser's badge of defeat, may be cured in 24 hours by a new electrical treatment, according to Dr. Norman E. Titus, New York City, who is attending the seventh annual convention of the American college of physical therapy here.

Dr. Titus said he had cured a Chicago polo player of a broken nose and two black eyes in 48 hours.

"It's all very simple," Titus said. "Discolored eyes may easily be cleared up by the application of a certain current of static electricity. What really happens is that we drive the discolored blood back into the veins. A black eye may be cleared up within 24 hours if the recipient comes to the doctor within a few hours after he gets it."

FEDERAL DRY AID DENIED NEW YORK

Grand Jury Says Wood Alcohol Is Not Regarded as Beverage.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Denied the aid of the federal prohibition enforcement machine, New York must find its own way of stopping the poison liquor wave that has taken 24 lives in the past few days.

The government, through a federal grand jury, refused to help solve the problem because it was not within the scope of the Volstead act.

"Inasmuch as wood alcohol is not a beverage, but a recognized poison, analogous to Prussic acid or iodine and its use is not regulated by any of the federal laws we respectfully report that in the particular instances the subject matter is for the consideration of the state authorities rather than the federal authorities," the grand jury reported.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora admitted was non-plussed by the situation. He had heretofore considered all intoxicating beverages whether they contained wood alcohol or not as within the jurisdiction of the prohibition department he said.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

LESSON TEXT—1 Cor. 12:3-7, 13:1-8.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Love is the Best of All.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Greatest Thing in the World.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Greatest of All Gifts.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Spiritual Gifts.

Joel predicted a remarkable effusion of the spirit in Messianic times (Joel 2:28, 29; cf. Acts 2:17, 18).

Before the crucifixion, Jesus promised to send the Holy Spirit to be the helper and guide of His people. This was historically fulfilled on the day of Pentecost. The gifts of the Spirit were extended to all classes. Not only were these endowments marked by great power, but by great diversity. In view of the abuses and confusion which are likely to arise from such condition, it is highly important that certain principles be set forth for guidance and regulation.

1. The Infallible Criterion (1 Cor. 12:3).

The infallible test which determines whether gifts are spurious or genuine is one's conception of God and attitude toward Jesus Christ. Only those who recognize Him as God manifest in the flesh, His vicarious atonement on the cross, and submit to Him as their Lord, can be recognized as possessing the gift of the Holy Spirit. Christ said before leaving the earth that when the Spirit came His supreme business would be to testify to Him, to take the things of Christ and show them unto the people. The soundness of the faith of a man is the sign of this commission from God. Regardless of eloquence or learning, the man who "does not thus view Christ should not be tolerated as a teacher."

2. The Diversity of Spiritual Gifts (1 Cor. 12:4-11).

In the church there are to be found those possessing the gift of wisdom, knowledge, faith, healing, miracles, prophecy, discernment of spirits, divers kinds of tongues and the interpretation of tongues. Whatever the form of the gift, they are all manifestations of the same Holy Spirit dwelling in the church for the edification of the body.

3. The Unity of the Spirit's Gifts (1 Cor. 12:12-30).

Christian unity is only possible when effected by the Holy Spirit. This unity amidst diversity is represented under the figure of the human body. The church, which is the body of Christ, is an organism as really as the human body.

1. The human body has many members, each performing distinct functions for the good of the body (v. 12).

2. The members are mutually related and independent (v. 13-17).

3. The place of each member is determined by the choice of God (v. 18).

4. The members which are least attractive and least conspicuous are most important (v. 21-23).

IV. Love the Spirit's Best Gift (1 Cor. 12:31-13).

1. The pre-eminence of love (v. 1-3).

It transcends.

(1) Speaking with tongues.

(2) The gift of prophecy.

(3) Faith of the most vigorous kind.

(4) Philanthropy of the most generous sort.

(5) Heroic devotion leading to martyrdom.

2. The attributes of love (v. 4-7).

(1) Long-suffering and kind.

(2) Free from envy.

(3) Freedom from boasting.

(4) Decorous and well behaved.

(5) Unselfish.

(6) Does not give way to passion; is not quick tempered.

(7) Thinks no evil; does not impute evil motives to others; is not suspicious.

(8) Delights not in evil.

(9) Bearer of all things.

(10) Is truthful, hopeful and firm.

3. The permanence of love (v. 8-13).

Prophecy as prediction will be fulfilled. Prophecy as teaching will be brought to an end in the day when teaching is not needed. Tongues shall cease, for as the languages of earth were caused by God's judgment for sin, so shall Christ's redemption bring the nations back to one tongue. Knowledge shall be done away with the coming of a wider and nobler intelligence. The twilight will be lost in day, childhood shall be lost in maturity. Love will always abide, for God is love.

5. The comparative value of prophecy and tongues (14:1-25).

Prophecy is given the highest place because it is to declare God's message to men. Its primary meaning is to foretell. To speak with tongues means to speak in other languages for the purpose of showing the presence of God.

Expensive Advice

"Give the children hammers and saws," reads a column of advice to parents. Yes, let the little darlings practice on the piano legs or the bedstead. Some lovely and unique patterns may be traced on dresser fronts with the claws of a hammer. For instance.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

YOUTH GIVES LITTLE THOUGHT TO FUTURE

Lay the Foundation for a Happy Later Life by Common-Sense Living Today—It Can Be Done, Too, Without Curtailment of Wholesome Fun.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

If I were a good looking young woman or a stalwart young man, it seems to me I should find out how to keep my strength and beauty. As we grow older we mourn the neglect and indifference of our youthful days.

DR. COPELAND

The foundation of the health, vigor and mental capacity of middle and advanced life is laid in childhood and youth. Likewise, the foundation of the ill-health and warped thinking of the adult may be laid in early life.

The trouble about young people is that they are so confident of themselves, so greatly engaged in the enjoyments of youth, that they never think of what may come in old age. Indeed, in the fullness of youth, they really feel they "don't want to live to be old."

But common sense indicates that the majority, or at least a considerable proportion of the flappers and gay lads of today will live into the fifties and sixties and even into the seventies. Have you thought of that? What sort of person will you be at 60 or 70?

Bad teeth, dyspepsia, a poor heart, chronic bronchitis, weakened kidneys, diseased pelvic organs, stiff joints, painful feet—most of these, perhaps, as of them and other ailments besides, are usually traced to youthful neglect.

You will be obliged to live with your body at 70, just as you do at 20. Isn't it worth while to prepare for that remote period of your own existence?

It is a wonderful thing to be alive and young in this remarkable period. Only today I read of a man who has reached his hundredth birthday. In a newspaper interview he praises the youth of 1928, contrasting them with the young people of 80 years ago.

The old gentleman would not for the world have our boys and girls live and work and slave as they did then. He tells about the superior beauty and physical welfare of the youth of today.

There can be no doubt that the world is progressing and we are better off by far than were our grandparents. But any plea for the conservation of these privileges and for a manner of living that will make the old people of the year 2,000, a far better race than we have now.

Young people don't think a great deal about the "future." It is only preachers and doctors and women's clubs who are thinking in these terms. But listen, you are interested in you. Even though you are so far from it, you are individual members of it. What is to become of you?

You need have no less fun. You must cut out the essential features of your present day life. It is not for radical restrictions upon your freedom that I plead.

But I do plead for such voluntary regulation of your physical habits that you will not damage that wonderful body or lessen the possibilities of your alert mind.

Most of you who read these words I shall never see. None the less I am interested in your future. I want you to succeed, to succeed in the best sense. Merely to get money is not success. To marry "brilliantly" is not success.

To have a strong body, free from taint and secret weakness; to have a clean mind, founded on respect for all that is decent; to be able to think straight; to beget healthy children; to be useful and effective in advanced life—can you picture greater success?

Think on these things, dear young people. They are worthy your attention. What you will be a half century from now and what your companions of that day will think about you, are determined by an observance of these suggestions.

That's that!

GANGSTERS BOMB NOTED SPEAKEASY

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—"The 101," a speakeasy on the lower level of Wacker drive dealing exclusively in pre-war rums, Irish whiskeys and old wines, was bombed today by two men who hurled a bundle of dynamite through the front passageway.

Police confiscated a large amount of liquor after the explosion. Frank Kassner, watchman, said he saw two men approach the entrance and throw the bomb, which caused damage estimated at $500.

Detectives said they assumed the speakeasy was bombed because its owners specialized in high grade liquor, refusing to buy local products from the beer and alcohol syndicates.

OF KRUNKAMP
injury to Star Fullback Dims
Scarlet and Gray Chances Against Wildcats.

COLUMBUS, O., 12.—Coaches in eight of the ten western conference schools will probably sleep only fitfully Friday night.
For Saturday brings the testing fire for the 1928 gridiron machines of eight of the Big Ten institutions.
As far as Ohio is concerned the Big Ten's feature game for Saturday will be at Evanston, Ill.,
where Dr. John W. Wilce's Ohio State gridders open their Big Ten season by clashing with Dick Hanley's Northwestern purple wildcats.
Pat Page will pit his highly touted Indiana outfit against Tad Wieman's Michigan Wolverines, who are still smarting from the 17 to 7 lacing handed them by Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday in an alleged practice game.
PURDUE MEETS GOPHERS
Jimmy Thelan takes his Purdue boilermakers, also highly touted this fall, to Minneapolis to do battle with Doc Spears' powerful and crushing Gophers.
Gloomy Burt Ingwersen will take his Iowa Hawkeyes to Chicago to meet Edgar Stagg's Maroons.
Bob Zuppke's Illinois meet Coe
in a practice game and Glenn Thistlewaite's Wisconsin Badgers rest up from their labors in downing Notre Dame last Saturday by playing the North Dakota Aggies at Madison.
There's little to base predictions upon. Only two of the eight teams involved in conference battles Saturday met at all last fall.
They were Ohio State and Northwestern and Northwestern won that game 19 to 13.
TOSS-UP AT EVANSTON
Based on the dope the Ohio-
Northwestern game is a toss-up.
Indiana figures on paper to defeat
Michigan, Purdue has the slightest of edges over Minnesota, and Iowa has a little the better of it against Chicago.
Best of these fans will know the
of the battling about the hopes than was expected. Sooner
At noon Wednesday things pointed to an Ohio State victory over Northwestern.
But Wednesday afternoon Doc
Wilce sent his first stringers against the scrubs in a stiff scrimmage session. That session may prove one of the costliest of recent seasons, before it's over for in it Fullback Hardy Kruskamp and Halfback Art Huston sustained wrenched knees.
It's almost certain that Kruskamp won't be able to play at all Saturday. It's extremely doubtful if Huston will be available.
TO MISS KRUSKAMP
Huston is merely one of a half-dozen good ball-carrying half-backs on the Ohio State squad so his absence won't be so heavily felt. But Kruskamp is recognized as the Big Ten's best blocking back and his absence will put a severe crimp in Wilce's offensive plans.

The injury to Kruskamp puts the Buckeyes to the big test in their first Big Ten game of the season.
If they're as good as they looked against Wittenberg they should be able to carry on against Northwestern.
If they're not a real football blow of Kruskamp under the 1928 Ohio State game and the game will be like the 1927 game
State-Northwestern game.
In Kruskamp's absence Lincoln Cory will probably get the call at fullback with Horn at the blocking half and Holman at quarterback. The ball carrying assignment will be split between Eby, McConnell, McClure and several other Buckeye hopefuls. It's also possible that Howard Kriss, who is back in harness after an injury similar to Kruskamp's, may get in there for at least part of the game.
BOY SPECTATOR IS INJURED AT GAME
Glen Edwin Skinner, 10, student at Atlanta school, suffered a broken left leg at the Thursday morning recess when one of the larger boys who was playing baseball collided with him.
He was a spectator on the sidelines and the other boy did not see him until he collided with him.
His left leg was broken between the hip and knee. Dr. Cooper of Clarkburg was called and ordered the boy taken to the Children's hospital at Columbus. Kirk's ambulance of New Holland took him to the hospital.

CHICAGO IS GRID CENTER

Three Big Games To Be Played Saturday in Windy City and Its Vicinity.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—If it weren't for the weather, one would imagine that the climax, instead of the start, of the 1928 football season was at hand.
A throng which probably will exceed all previous gridiron gatherings will watch the Navy swing into action against Notre Dame tomorrow afternoon at Soldier's field. Chicago's picturesque lake front boulevard is gay with the colors of the contenders. A quest for tickets which promises a crowd of nearly 120,000 is on.
Unseasonably warm weather yesterday produced the unusual spectacle of men in shirt sleeves seeking tickets to "the big game";
agencies were besieged by perspiring late arrivals. Cooler weather was on tap for today, however, with the Navy squad due early in the afternoon and planning to run through a brief signal drill in the big stone stadium.
Knaute Rockne, who "Irish" are 13 to 10 favorites over the Middies, kept his squad at South Bend today and will bring them into Chicago just in time to take the field.
A powerful Buckeye eleven,
eager to avenge last season's defeat at the hands of Northwestern, is in town for a final work-out at Dyche stadium on the eve of its engagement with the Wildcats, while a confident squad of 40 Iowa allegians was due this morning to prepare for the game with Chicago at Stagg field.

There's no mystery
about tire buying

It's a simple thing to pick a good tire. Look out for the guy who has a reason for making it seem complicated.
You want durability in the structure of the tire and slow, even wear in the design of tread.
You want sure-footed traction and the greater safety which comes of gripping the road.
You want quietness and smooth running, with good looks—peace of mind and pride of ownership.
All these, we deliver to you in the Goodyear All-Weather Balloon. We've been in the tire business a long time and this is our idea of a one hundred per cent tire—it's the world's greatest tire.

Whispering

By FRANK SULLIVAN

If it is not too late, let's start a whispering campaign against Hoover. They say one has been started against Smith. They say anti-Smith persons have been going out whispering as follows:

1. He is uncouth.
2. He wears a brown derby.
3. He says "foist" for "first."
4. Once, on a hot day, he said "I would like to blow the froth off a schooner of beer."

(This last is obviously the bunk. Smith is smooth-shaven. He would not have to blow the froth off a glass of beer.) That custom was started by men with large mustaches to prevent telltale white patches of froth from clinging to the mustache to serve as a ready to inquiring wiles.)

Now, for this Hoover whispering campaign, we shall require about 100 expert whisperers and they ought to be able to whisper in at least two or more foreign languages, for we must cater to the foreign vote. We shall want these whisperers to skulk silently about in dark nights between the hours of midnight and 2 a. m., whispering the following set of little-known facts from Herbert Hoover's lurid past:

1. He is uncouth.
2. He was the fellow who killed the Austrian Archduke in 1914, thus starting the World War.
3. He invaded Belgium.
4. He is the missing Charlie and also the missing Dorothy Arnold, and he killed Elwell.
5. He once wore a gray fedora with the brim turned up in front and down in back and with a red feather stuck in the band.
6. He butters his radishes.
7. He says "Paroon me."
8. Both he and Al Smith are real Senator Curtis in disguise, and Senator Curtis, if he could be induced to take off his mustache, could stand revealed as Senator Robinson, who in private life is Senator Borah.

A NEW "QUENTIN ROOSEVELT"

Theodore Borutski, veteran of a German army who came to America after the war, became a naturalized American citizen in Ukiah, Wis., the other day. To prove that he renounced all allegiance to his former country, he only gave up his name, but rendered also one of his most prized possessions—an iron cross won by heroism under fire while fighting for the Kaiser.

For his new name this immigrant chose the name of Quentin Roosevelt. And his iron cross will go to France, and fastened to a coat, will be placed on Roosevelt's grave.

It's an interesting tale. Somehow, we have a feeling that old "Bones" Roosevelt, if he were alive, would heartily approve this man's action in taking Quentin's name.

THE MEN WHO DIE IN SUEZ

England recently gave military burial to the bodies taken from the hull of a British submarine which was sunk in 1919 in an engagement with a Bolshevik submarine in the Baltic sea. The bodies were brought to the surface.

One wonders how the relatives of those dead British sailors feel that did their duty for England and were buried in a manner that was not only a military honor but also a national one.

The war is over. Their deaths accomplished nothing. The point is as sure today as it would have been at that time that they died for nothing.

The answer of course is that the British Empire got exactly what it deserved. It was a mistake. That was the end of the matter. The relations of the dead soldiers to the living are all that can be said.

It seems that the dead should be treated when the neighbors of the living have taken from the living.

SPIRIT of the PRESS

We are developing a long-lived race according to a Cincinnati physician. It is also agreed that any stomach that can stand the present brands of bootleg liquor is good for at least 100 years.

Broadway Love

by Thomas Edgewood

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

JANET WILDE is the young and pretty daughter of Fenimore Wilde, one of Broadway's favorite actors. His son Frank is an idler and, like his father, a spendthrift. The girl has a taste for time mothering them both. On the eve of a great opening night for her father, Janet accepts the proposal of Gordon Pryor, a young but impecunious actor. In a restaurant she meets a young musician, Leonard Quigg, who attracts her. Janet's father drops dead after a brilliant performance, leaving her and her brother almost penniless. Gordon Pryor breaks his engagement and Janet realizes that it was her father's prestige and not love for her that prompted his proposal. She obtains the position of confidential secretary to John Montague, theatrical impresario. At the same time she quarrels with Leonard Quigg and cements a friendship with a brilliant young doctor, David Churchill, who is secretly in love with Janet. Her employer offers to make her a star and settle a large sum of money on her—with provisions. She sneers at his "generosity" and makes him promise never to mention the matter again. When she patches up her quarrel with Leonard Quigg he takes her to the studio of his uncle, Chester Quigg, well-established artist.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

L EONARD went to the huge piano at the back of the vast apartment and seemed lost in his music. Janet was sitting on a couch with Chester Quigg, examining a portfolio full of drawings.

"Look at the shading of that foot, Miss Wilde," Chester exclaimed shamelessly. "Masterly! You must admit—I defy you to deny—that the shading of that foot is masterly!"

And the fact remained—that the shading was masterly, and that master of the pencil knew it, and raved about his own work just exactly as though it had been executed by somebody else.

"So few artists are modest," Janet permitted herself, with a sly smile.

"Modesty—what is it?" he belatedly. "Stuff for women! Modesty! No one worth anything is modest—only another form of hypocrisy! Away with it!"

"Must you shout at the lady?" A small voice, rather a charming voice, penetrated to Janet's ears.

Looking up, Janet perceived a little girl with a grave, sweet face and long, golden hair, which she wore down over her shoulders.

"You mustn't mind him," the little girl went on. "He wouldn't shout and explain things to you if he didn't like you, but father is not as other men."

"Heart of my heart! Aren't I as other men?" Chester Quigg shouted, and he picked his little daughter up as though she had been five instead of twelve, and sat her on his knee.

"Aren't you always saying that you aren't? And don't you know enough, Daddy, to introduce me? Will you never be conventional?"

"Poor child! Hoping for the impossible—that her parent will be what he can't be," Leonard, who had joined the little group, put in. "This is that unfortunate child, Alice Quigg—Janet Wilde," he introduced them.

Alice struggled off her father's knee and made Janet a little old-fashioned courtesy. She looked at the visitor admiringly, and then much as though she were criticizing a picture, she said: "You're very beautiful."

"Thank you very much," Janet said laughing. "Do you generally tell people what you think?"

"This is The Studio of Truth," Alice replied gravely. "Daddy calls it that, and you've no idea how embarrassing it is at times, to live in a studio of truth. Some people don't like it, and then they get mad and go away, and unless I can soothe them down, then we don't see them any more. I don't suppose you've ever been a soother?"

"A soother?" Janet asked, deciding that already she loved this child.

"A soother of an artist's nerves," Alice explained. "Daddy says that's my job, and that I do it s'perlatively well. But I don't suppose you've ever been a soother?"

"But indeed I've been a soother," Janet told her. "My father was an actor—Fenimore Wilde?"

"Was? Is he dead—like my mother?"

"Miss Wilde's father was the most celebrated actor on the American stage, and only died last November," Leonard supplemented.

"And you used to be a soother to him?" she asked gravely. "Do actors have nerves the same as daddy?"

"It has been known," Janet said gently. "And do you find your job very difficult—as a soother?"

"It all depends," Alice sighed. "I tried living away from him. I went to stay with an aunt in Boston, but I was very unhappy, and I missed dad and the studio. Besides, he got himself all nervous and upset and quarreled with everybody, so we had to live together again. I have a governess who comes in the mornings, but dad doesn't feel that woman's education is very important. He says, and maybe he's right, that the more they're educated the worse they are to live with, because they become too s'perior, but that the worst thing they do is art. He says that art-y women ought to be drowned, but the Government hasn't made it a law—about drowning art-y women."

"I think she's a darling," Janet announced as she watched the little figure disappear.

"She likes you—I could see that at once. Won't you make a habit of dropping into the studio, Miss Wilde—not that I have the faintest intention of calling you 'Miss Wilde,' but it looks pretty to begin with. But couldn't you drop in when you felt like it?" Alice's father said.

"I work in the afternoons and most evenings," Janet explained, "but I have nothing much to do in the mornings."

"Later, as Janet was helping Alice make some tea, she was alone with the little girl in the kitchen.

"We have a colored maid when we can afford one," Alice explained. "And we have one now, but she doesn't come on Sundays. I look after things, though."

"I think you're very brave," Janet said. She was sitting down on a chair by the table, and she looked affectionately at her little friend.

"Brave?" Alice repeated. "Of course. One has to be brave if one isn't a man. Didn't you know that?"

Suddenly Janet put her arms about the child and pulled her to her.

"What a wise child you are!" she exclaimed, as she kissed the grave little face.

"I am quite sure that I love you," Alice announced, returning the kiss. "But do you think that men are very brave, Janet, if you don't mind me calling you that? Have you ever seen a man cut his finger? I saw mine if I cut it and tie it up with a bit of rag if it's bad, but a man—Daddy or Leonard, or any of Daddy's men friends—has to be disinfected and everything. Men have to be ever so careful of germs, and I'm not a bit afraid of them, and you can't disinfected all men with iodine when they're cut themselves because they're afraid of iodine poisoning. Some of them, and yet they're not afraid of being cut—so you have to know. But it does seem that they're afraid of lots of things. And when they have a cold in the head, then it's gripe and not just a cold, and then they're afraid of pneumonia setting in. Have you ever noticed that?"

Janet kissed her again. "Many, many times, Alice, only you happen to have brought it to my attention. What's that bread?"

"Special bread for Dad, because he's afraid of putting on weight," she announced seriously. "He weighs himself every day and it's terrible if it's too much."

"And you attend to all these things?" Janet asked admiringly. "Do you know, Alice dear, that you remind me very much of when I was a little girl, though I was older than you when—when I became a soother. I am not at all sure that I want to go on—being a soother."

"But you'll have to go on," Alice informed her, as she poured some cream into a pitcher. "When you marry you know. That's what wives are for—to be soothers. I thought you would have known that."

"I think," Janet decided laughingly, "that you are quite the wisest person I have ever met, Alice."

DOG STARS IN FILM

Dynamite, the dog star, in "The Wolf's Trail" is the feature film at the Grand theater tonight. It is a drama of the great outdoors, of a dog that was not afraid to follow the trail, no matter to what danger it led him when the blood of his wolf ancestors ran hot in his veins. An added feature is the eighth chapter of "The Scarlet Arrow."

LAUGHS ARE PLENTY

Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, famous comedy team of the screen, invade the underworld and enact the role of a pair of amateur detectives, in their latest hilarious experience, "Detectives," now playing at the Metropolitan theatre. The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy is a thriller with laughs injected by the pair as "hick" detectives, blundering into a serious underworld plot. Marceline Day plays the heroine, and Tenen Holtz, Clarence Lyle, Polly Moran and others of note are in the cast. It was directed by Chester M. Franklin.

Distance Finder Swift

With the aid of a new calculating machine invented by Dr. J. E. Rose of the College of William and Mary, an airplane can tell in an instant how far he is from his goal; a gunner can use the device as a range finder. The "trinomometer" is simply a triangle that measures itself. It is in the principle of all surveying and range-finding devices which use trigonometry—the science of measurement of triangles.

Blackstone

Sir William Blackstone published in 1765 a volume entitled "Commentaries on the Laws of England." This was the first and only book of its kind in England, and it came to be regarded as an authoritative revelation of the law. While it has ceased to be of much practical value as an authority in the courts, it remains an arbiter on all public discussions on the law or the constitution.

INTEREST GROWING IN LOCAL HISTORY

New Book Pamphlets and Pictures Obtained By Public Library.

Ohio History Day is over, but the interest in local history continues.

The Circleville public library, during the past two weeks, has had a display of books and pamphlets, set off appropriate pictures, that in the attention to the library's forces along this line.

Pamphlets. Dr. Howard Jones and C. Balbreath are of special interest. Dr. Jones has also recently lent a large picture of Logan to the library.

"Long Lance," published just a few weeks before the author's visit to Circleville, enjoying a big demand. C. O. Appleear has just secured for the library the last two volumes of the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society Reports—vols. 33 and 34. Volume 33 devotes several articles to the life and times of Felix Renick and two to the Buffalo Child Long Lance. Volume 34 deals largely with the story of Ohio's canals and contains accounts of the Wagner Memorial and activities of the McGuffey Society.

"Simon Girty, the Wee Savage," by Thomas Boyd, a very recent book just received at the library this week.

Simon Girty, known as the infamous "ringleader" of the revolution, was perhaps more closely connected with events of local history than any other figure of his time. The Rev. David Jones, sitting in the Indian villages along the Scioto, previously to Dunmore's war, referred to him as "a strange old demon." Later, as a scout for Dunmore, he accompanied John Casson on his mission to Logan. He was one of the two acting auditors of the famous speech. During the War of 1812, while acting as a British spy, he again passed through Circleville, on the pretense of a visit to a brother who had at one time lived on Walnut Plains.

CHURCH ARRANGES SPECIAL PROGRAM

Sunday School Commencement Service Will Be Held At U. B. Church.

An excellent program under the direction of Supt. J. R. Kirkpatrick will be presented at the United Brethren Church Sunday, Oct. 14, beginning at 9:15 a. m. The program will mark commencement day at the Sunday school.

Following the organ prelude, the program will proceed, beginning with song service and prayer as follows:

Music, Male Chorus; Devotion, reading; Superintendent, Kirkpatrick; Song No. 1, Schaefer in Study Period; Orchestra; Auditorium; E. S. Neuding; Off-nouncer; Music, Children's Chorus; Prayer, Mrs. Ralph Long; Song No. 188, School; Address, "The Signed Diploma" Rev. B. C. Peters Presentation of Diplomas, Superintendent; Benediction.

The Christian Endeavor will meet at 6 o'clock and at 6:30 o'clock will divide into sections for study. At 7 o'clock the regular service will open with a song service, which will last a half hour. At 7:30 o'clock Rev. Mr. Peters will preach on the subject: "The Brave Man Who Lost His Nerve."

Pronounced "Rob-ut"

"Robut," meaning a mechanical device which does the work of men, is correctly pronounced "rob-ut," with the accent on the first syllable. This is the pronunciation adopted by the New York Theater Guild, which produced the play "R. U. R." in which the word was coined by Karel Capek, a Czech playwright.—The Pathfinder.

Children 12 years of age and under will be admitted to performances at Cliftona Theatre for 10 cents.

Pushing the Goods

Any salesman will tell you that a stock of goods in your store is not a business. A stock of information in your mind is not an education. A stock of experience, to make a business, is a rare thing. The goods, therefore, that you display them, and you must use your mind. Exercise it. Keep it open and flexible, quick and workable. Getting a good job is only the beginning of the road. SPORTSMATTER

FRANK GETTY

(By UNITED PRESS)

Vincent Richards, New York, today is heralded as the leading professional tennis player of the world, following his victory over Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakia, in the first professional tournament of the United States held with the sanction of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Kozeluh was defeated for the first time since 1919 by the former Davis cup star on the turf courts of Forest Hills. It was a glorious victory for Richards since Kozeluh, the European champion, was favored to win the tournament.

Great as the record of the Czechoslovakian stands, that of Vincent Richards is something to marvel at. It will be recalled that Richards won the professional honors in the competition that was hastily arranged last season. He mastered Howard Kinsey in the finals for the United States title. Early this season Richards won the Southern honors by defeating Paul Heston in the tournament at Palm Beach, Florida.

Won With Tilden
Richards has won and held no less than five professional titles and eight amateur championships. This does not include the triumphs achieved in the boys' and junior classes. With Big Bill Tilden, he won the national doubles titles three times, in 1918, 1921, 1922. In 1925 and 1926 he won the doubles championship with R. Norris Williams.

In the finals of the Olympics in 1924, Richards conquered Henri Cochet, the amateur champion of the world. With Hunter as his partner, he won the Olympic doubles title over Jacques Brugnon and Henri Cochet. In the semi-finals, the American pair mastered Jean Borotra and Rene La Costa.

The victory over Kozeluh at Forest Hills was an unexpected one for Richards. Richards himself contends that the marvelous keep professional tennis on the level. He was twice defeated by Kozeluh, once in Prague and once in London.

Richards plans to do his part to keep professional tennis on the level. He was twice defeated by Kozeluh, once in Prague and once in London.

SOCIETY

SURPRISE PARTY AT HANKINS HOME

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hankins of near Circleville Wednesday night for an enjoyable evening of cards, games and music. Mr. Hankins' birthday was the occasion for the celebration, in which everyone took an active part and added to the enthusiasm of the event.

The refreshments served by Mrs. Hankins at the close of the games consisted of fruit salad, whipped cream, angel food cake, cocoa and apples. These were present to enjoy this menu. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Price, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hegley, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Diehl and three sons, Mrs. Katherine Cruse, Mr. John Margraf, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nichols and daughter, Marie, all of Chillicothe and three guests from Chillicothe.

GOOD PROGRAM AT MRS. STEELE'S

The Woman's Missionary society of the United Brethren church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jennie Steele N. Court-st.

The subject of the worship period was "The World's Abundant Life," under the leadership of Miss Daisy Woollever. Mrs. Hattie Baker and Mrs. Minnie Clardie gave special prayers of thanksgiving for the abundant life found in Christ. The program for the day was then taken up. "Exploring Africa," was the subject, and Mrs. Bessie Long gave a map study of Africa, crops, climate, minerals and natural resources.

A paper, "What the White Man Has Done in Africa the Last Century," was given by Miss Mary Myers. Mrs. Jennie Steele read an interesting leaflet "Printer's Ink in Sierra Leone."

The regular routine of business was then taken up and plans perfected for the Otterbein campaign which starts the 21st of October, lasting two weeks, culminating in Woman's Day to be observed on Nov. 4, with a special program.

The meeting closed with prayer after which a social hour was enjoyed together.

MRS. MAXWELL IS GUEST

Mrs. Frank Bennett of S. Court-st. entertained to luncheon Thursday for Mrs. Dolores Maxwell, of Chillicothe. Mrs. Maxwell prominently known in this part of Ohio as a teacher of voice, has lately returned from a summer spent in study with artists in Europe.

The guests at the luncheon were Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, Miss Helen Marion, Mrs. James Moffitt, Mrs. Clark Will and Mrs. Harry Heffner. These are pupils who have studied with Mrs. Maxwell in the past year.

PARTY IS FOR MRS. DEMING

Mrs. Paul Cromley of Ashville, will have an evening bridge party at 8 o'clock Friday for the pleasure of Mrs. Deming of Cleveland, who is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Bales of W. Mound st.

AT CONCLAVE IN DAYTON

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nickerson, Miss Sallie Caldwell, H. B. Colwell, H. G. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chappelle and Alfred Lee attended the state convocation of Knights Templar in Dayton, Wednesday.

READ LETTER OF APPRECIATION

At the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club Thursday night, a letter was read, that had been received from the Business and Professional Women's club in Kissi-mamee, Fla., thanking the local organization, for their donation to hurricane sufferers in that city. The letter was directed to Mrs. Anna Chandler, corresponding secretary, and contained the following:

"Dear Mrs. Chandler:—

"We certainly thank your club for its thoughtfulness in sending $10 for the storm relief work. Although fortunately, Kissimmee was not hurt badly by the storm, the clubs in West Palm Beach-co. are in a pitiful condition. We have received messages from the girls down there stating that the conditions are terrible. In addition to the present suffering, caused by the flood and the loss of homes, many of the girls are out of jobs.

We have added your $10 to a fund which we have, and are sending all the money direct to the West Palm Beach-co girls to be distributed among themselves. In this way our money goes directly to club girls instead of through any other organization.

Many of our club members remember Miss Mabel Robinson, and we all think it splendid of your club to help us in this way. It is certainly appreciated."

Sincerely Yours.

Miss Mabel Robinson was a former member of this club at Kissimmee. She is married now and is Mrs. Tom Hairston, of Columbus. At present she is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. B. Robinson, of W. Main-st.

Other routine business was discussed at the meeting Thursday night. For the singing, the club used for the first time their new piano, that was recently purchased.

VISITORS ARRIVE FOR PUMPKIN SHOW

Mrs. W. V. Maiden and daughters, Rose Mary and Glory Ann, of Newport, Ky., and Mrs. Mary Alice Rundels and son, Billy, of Deshler, Ave., Columbus are at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watt, of E. Mound-st. and will remain until after the Pumpkin Show.

FRIENDS MEET GUEST AT AFTERNOON TEA

Miss Flora Dunlap of S. Court-st. is entertaining as her house guest, Miss Anna Lawther of Dubuque, Iowa. Thursday afternoon Miss Dunlap had a small number of friends in to tea, to meet her guest. She will leave Friday night for Bryn Mawr, Pa., where she will attend a meeting of the trustees of this school. Miss Lawther is a member of the state board of education of Iowa. She was elected to this position seven years ago, and has the honor of being the first woman member on the state board.

MRS. NEWMYER HAS CLUB

Mrs. Charles T. Gilmore was the winner of an attractive bridge prize Thursday night when Mrs. Edna Newmyer entertained the members of her bridge club at her home on N. Court-st. Mrs. Frank Bennett will entertain this club next Monday night.

Satins Ahe Smart Alternatives for Velvets and Lames.

By FRANCES PAGET
Copyright, 1922, by Women's Wear Magazine.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Satins, introduced into the realm of formal evening fashions more than a year ago, remain as smart alternatives for velvets and lames in winter gowns and wraps.

The reason for such strong luster is found in the favor accorded draped and cartridge-pleated fashions—the higher the luster of the material the stronger are its highlights, and, therefore, the more effective its draping.

Off-white shades and the many new tints that hold overtones of peach, violet, pale blue and beige are considered as very important gown and wrap colors in all lustrous satins while the range of medium blues, vivid reds, and, of course, black are also significant.

Mrs. Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sands, and sisters, Miss Ina Sands, of Chillicothe and Miss Madge Sands, a student at Wilmington college, also arrived Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Culp of N. Court-st. were visitors at the fair in Lancaster, Thursday.

Max Friedman of E. Mill-st. attended a smoker at the Chillicothe Country club Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Kinsey of E. Main-st. have returned home from Indianapolis where they were called by the death of her father.

SOUNDS WARNING

Talmer Wise, fire chief, issued a warning Friday to the citizens of Circleville to use extreme care in burning leaves. The weather is very dry and there is great danger of the fire spreading to buildings. Fires should not be started. The chief said. He also stated persons should not attempt to burn leaves while a stiff wind is blowing.

The HOOSIER Lends A Helping Hand in The Kitchen!

To take over the active management of a house has been the privilege and duty of many young brides this year.

If there are labor-saving devices in the kitchen, the young bride will find that preparing meals and cleaning up after them will be much easier.

Most any bridegroom will want his bride to have the same helpful equipment in her kitchen that he has in his office or factory.

And if he is thoughtful, he will want her to have cheer and color in her kitchen. He will want her kitchen modern.

One way to start a modern kitchen is with the new, improved Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet in a choice of five beautiful color finishes.

Our complete display will interest you, and will probably solve a gift problem for you.

COLLEEN MOORE
Oh Kay!

Colleen in her kind of part—tripling for cockney maid, lady bootlegger and society pet—full of laffs and thrills—and just twice as good as "Sally" and "Irene."
